THIS IS THE HOUSE THAT You BUILT

The Junior Class
Draftsmen

Foreward

We of Plattsburgh State Teachers College are engaged in a great constructive project. We have embarked on the erection, piece by piece, of our house of knowledge and understanding. This house exists in the creative imagination of each one of us, whether teacher, student or administrator. Although it exists in the mind, it is none the less a tremendously real and vital creation. For each one of us this dwelling contains nothing less than the sum total of our social, religious, intellectual and physical experiences during college. A firmer foundation is achieved as we grow in knowledge and skill. Another brick is laid with every new adventure of our mind. Beams, bricks and mortar are the counterparts of the mental strength and personal stability that our college provides.

Each one must build his own home—"build ye stately mansions, O my soul!" In our yearbook we seek merely to suggest the relationship between knowledge and building. We present the house that you built.

State University of New York

PLATTSBURG STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Plattsburg

New York

Dedication

Once again, we find ourselves facing a rather uncertain future in a world full of chaos and confusion, virtually torn asunder by conflicting ideologies. The democratic principles so deeply ingrained in the hearts and minds of all Americans are much at stake; and we, at the threshold of becoming the teachers of the youth of tomorrow cannot be more gravely concerned with the outcome—totalitarianism or democracy.

This is the time for a rededication to the values of the democratic way of life we have so often taken for granted. Therefore, we, the Class of 1952, dedicate our yearbook to the recently established State University of New York, a living symbol of our democratic beliefs.

This institution bars none from the portals because of race, creed, or color; it is for rich and poor alike; it offers equal opportunity to all. Its thirty-three units give instruction which embraces three major fields—general, vocational, and professional education, with subject matter ranging from Ceramics to Forestry.

Education is democracy's most powerful weapon. Its enlightening rays can penetrate the darkest recesses of the minds of men. The University of the State of New York is another landmark in the diffusion of this light of knowledge towards a world of peace and happiness, which can be achieved solely through democratic living.

THE ENGINEER

PRESIDENT

DR. CHARLES C. WARD

In its dedication to the State University of New York, the 1951 Cardinal commemorates our second anniversary as a unit in a great and growing university. It pays tribute to our ever richer association with others in making the university ever more significant in the lives of our people.

In a world in which actual and impending tragedy is all about us, the theme of the Cardinal expresses a belief in the foundations of our way of life and the part which teachers must ever play in the preservation and enhancement of those ideals which are the basis of our national life.

In its theme, the Cardinal mirrors the strength that is our college. It enriches the heritage which, throughout the years, we have built. It speaks of the courage and the vision of our students and of their consecration, as teachers and as citizens, to the children and the communities of our country.

There is no greater consecration.

JUNIORS • CLASS OF 1952

Imperceptibly as ever, time slipped by and then, somewhat owfully, we found we had the appellation "Junior" to answer to. It just didn't seem possible—but there we were.

We weathered those storms and stresses that at one time seemed to threaten our survival in these hollowed halls. Term popers, reports, conferences, and even teaching, assumed normal proportions as we learned to take them in stride.

Our responsibilities increased in complexity, but it seemed as if our capacity to handle them did also. Our role as future teachers took on greater significance and importance. It almost seems now that we actually acquired a little of that "professional attitude" and hardly realized it.

Though impressed with the promise of tomorrow, the present occupied us whole-heartedly in planning the activities that are traditional with Juniors. Many hours were spent in conference to insure the success of the Junior show; most of the Juniors deliberated and cooperated to produce the Junior Prom, worthy of the tradition behind it. The crowning of our King and Queen was symbolic of the reward reaped upon those who give of themselves unselfishly and, in doing so, add to the enrichment of their classmates and their college. They were a symbol, also, of our class and the things we have done.

And now, shaped, moulded and colored by all the experiences we've had as a part of this world within a world, we shall be going forth to tackle its real counterpart. We shall endeavor to do well, for our success will be your success.

A Tribute to the SENIORS CLASS OF 1951

To you Seniors, we bid a fond farewell. Your work is done here; wider horizons beckon. Your building here is done, yes, but what of the world beyond and around? This world threatens to split at its foundations, to crack and crumble, and turn to dust all that man has put together through countless generations. In the light of this upheaval, the children who emerge into this uneasy and destructive environment will need your help and guidance as never before. Remember then the ivy covered building and all it stands for, you will not foil them.

You will have to meet challenges on all sides, and each time your response will be weighed and measured by onlookers; your credit will be our credit and your reverses, our reverses.

That which you leave behind is not material or tangible; nor is that which you take. Together we have built a spiritual house and together we've lived in it. It is not a house we can see or touch, and yet it is all around us, evergrowing. May you be as successful in your new role of teaching as you were in strengthening the framework of our college.

CLASS OF 1953

Sophomores—and how proud they were to bear the title! How green the Freshmen looked to them, yet, how hard they tried to help them to become orientated. Now they had something cherished to offer too and perhaps wanted to be certain of how it would be handled. They "adopted" freshmen sisters and took them here and there around the campus; answered their countless questions; invited them to their houses; introduced them to their friends; required them to learn the college rules, regulations, and songs. They continued to play that role as the year wore on, trying to draw the newcomers closer. With a hustle and a bustle, they planned an all-day picnic for them to introduce

Twin Valleys, whose expansion may someday find expression in their efforts.

Although they may not have realized it then they were, by guiding these freshmen, helping to strengthen the framework of our college.

Freshman Court

In years to come, this Freshman Class shall, inevitably, look back upon the four years spent at P.S.T.C. and, for each, certain memories will shine out among the less dim and obscure ones. Should their thoughts wend to that first bewildering year when they come here, what would they be? Would they recall the lost feeling they had, after stepping off the train in the midst of a multitude of faces who all seemed to know everyone but them? It was in no time at all, however, that they too became a part of the life led by the soon familiar faces. How they were rushed in that first week by a round of social activities! It seemed as if everyone was trying to pick P.S.T.C. up by its foundations and giving it to them saying: "Here is what we are—what we shall become will be what you add or detract"

FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS
P. Major, Recording Secretary; D. Mehne, Vice-President; E. Keeler, President; J. Peterzell, Alternate to the House; P. Ryan, Corresponding Secretary.

And so, they worked on the various committees, gave their support to extra-class activities, took on responsibilities, and tried to meet successfully the challenge P.S.T.C. offered. As they built upon traditions, they tried to establish some as well.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES

One of the most important bricks in our edifice is our student government, the House of Delegates. To the bi-monthly meetings come a representative from each class, club and organization. Dr. Word, Dean Redcay and Dean Lewis are permanent advisors with one other faculty member.

Through the House of Delegates and with the approval of the administration, the policies of our college are formed. The treasurer of the House of Delegates and Dean Redcay are responsible for the budgeting of our Student Fee. The nucleus of the committees on the following pages originate from this body. When the need for improvements on the campus arises, committees from this group serve to satisfy them. Before any club is established it must have the approval of the House. Our Foster Child, the White Gift, and the Crusade for Freedom Drive are charitable activities which the House of Delegates has sponsored this year.

Another responsibility of the House is to elect and send delegates to conferences. This year we have been represented at Inter-Collegiate Association, National Comp, and Eastern States, the latter of which the Dean Redcay is president.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the executive branch of the House of Delegates. Members of the Council are the officers from the House, a representative from each of the three standing committees of the House: Assembly, Social, and Student Guidance Committees.

Standing: J. Baumer, D. Miller, G. Taylor. Seated: P. Fidler, G. Emrich, E. Cococcia, J. Reiss.

WOMEN'S RESIDENCE BOARD

Our social life must necessarily comply with certain regulations, we learned upon our first arrival at P.S.T.C. We soon learned that our wishes, in this respect, could democratically find some expression in the body known as the Women's Residence Board. This Board consists of the presidents of the dormitories and houses, and meets with Dean Lewis once a month to discuss, besides house rules, fire drills and safety conditions within the various houses.

Whenever a proposal is made which would alter the existing rules in any way, it must have the approval of this Board or it does not pass. This Board is but another example of the interplay directed towards the end of a finer and more enjoyable student life.

STUDENT GUIDANCE COMMITTEE

The three members of this committee are responsible for the improvement of our campus. They are chosen by the House of Delegates and propose action to be taken by the House concerning problems on campus.

C. Peterhansel, R. Hoog, D. Miller, E. Novak,
G. Gorman, M. Tropasso.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

To further the educational opportunities of the college, stimulating assembly programs are planned and arranged by the Assembly Committee.

Evening performances, featuring nationally known concert artists, add variety and are open to the entire student body and their guests.

The student committee, elected by the House of Delegates, is advised by Miss Julia Detraz, a member of the Education Department.

Seated: K. Murrigh, B. Gooley, R. Mertens, D. Rickelson. Standing:
C. Yondo, F. Pye, J. Boumer, P. Constantineou.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Chosen by the House of Delegates, the Social Committee launches many of the college's social activities. This year the group was responsible for the planning and execution of many events with Champlain College. In addition to the perennial mixer dances, Halloween Dance, Winter Weekend and movie nights, this group sponsored the new program of dances held after basketball games. They not only provided entertainment for all, but promoted good relationships between opposing college teams. This year has been fruitful for both the planners and the recipients.

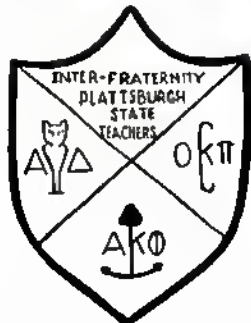

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

To act as a coordinator for the three sororities, the Inter Fraternity Council regulates rushing activities, the banquet, initiation, pledging and the formal "inter-frat" dance.

This year the Council established an interfraternity crest representing the symbols and the Greek letters of the three sororities.

By working together a stronger bond among the Alpha Deltas, the Ago's, the Clio's is apparent.

EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

It is the function of the Extra Curricular Activities Committee to plan, regulate, and carry out the extra-curricular program for our college. The Committee is made up of three faculty members and three members of the student body.

This year the Committee has been concerned primarily with setting up a plan for the operation and management of the Student Union and the formation of new clubs, specifically the Folk Dance Club and the Photography Club.

FOSTER CHILD COMMITTEE

Madeline De Coninque is the thirteen-year-old French girl adopted by the students of the school. The direction of this activity is handled by the representatives appointed by each class.

Besides sending money to the Foster Child Association to see that the child is well-provided for, informative letters from interested students are sent to her throughout the year.

Her letters of appreciation, posted for all students to read, more than reward the interest the students have taken in this deserving girl.

MIXED CHORUS

The mixed chorus, a specialized and select group, provides students with advanced vocal training to become more acquainted with the finest of choral literature. This organization functions in order to develop more fully the individual voices of its members and also, to provide music for the college.

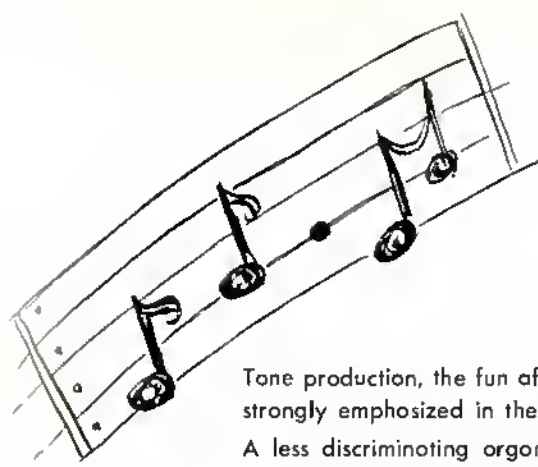

This year, under the direction of Dr. Yokum, a Thanksgiving program was produced which will probably become a tradition at P.S.T.C. The Chorus was active in this fall program as well as the Christmas programs and the concert, with Chomplain College. Of special note were the contributions of the Chorus to the Saint Patrick's Day performance.

In the Spring, the members spend a few days performing at surrounding high schools. We are proud to have an organization such as this in our house.

The Chorus in Rehearsal

GLEE CLUB

Tone production, the fun of harmonizing and the social stimulus of singing together are strongly emphasized in the Glee Club.

A less discriminating organization than the Mixed Chorus, the Glee Club has as its primary qualification for membership a desire to participate in vocal music. Membership is available to all girls of the college; to this organization come the experienced and the inexperienced.

The outstanding events in the Glee Club calendar this year were the Thanksgiving program, the Vesper Sing, the Coronation Ceremony and the Modern Dance Program.

The appearance of these girls in their evening dresses makes a colorful picture for our house.

Kuzminski, S. Markham, H. Hourihan, M. Miller, G. Giroux, H. Penalis, A. Doig, C. Bayle, F. Webber, B. Hallenback, M. Frink.

BAND

The band was organized to provide an opportunity for music lovers to assemble and play under the direction of Mr. Caswell.

The performances which were given for the student body indicated that the band has been an excellent training ground for instrumentalists in developing technique, tone, balance, and interpretation.

This organization has had several opportunities to perform for the college, the most important being the traditional Christmas program, the Spring Concert, The Baccalaureate Services, and the Coronation of the Junior King and Queen.

Public relations have been inspired by members who performed at high schools and at the state music festival.

ORCHESTRA

Organized for their own enjoyment as well as that of the college, this ensemble includes a small but experienced group.

Under the direction of Mr. Coswell, they have shown their ability on numerous occasions. Faculty and students were delighted with their rendition of "Sleigh Bells" which opened the Vesper Sing. Besides the Christmas activities, the Orchestra also entertained at the fall concert. Special attention was given to the brass section in the Thanksgiving program. The orchestra also give creditable performances at the Friday afternoon musicals.

The size of the ensemble has grown during the past year. This is partially due to the larger enrollment and to the increased enthusiasm and demand from the student body.

FOOTLIGHTS CLUB

Belonging to one of the most active organizations on campus, these thespians are well-known to us. Their productions have consistently attracted a large audience and have seldom failed to please and entertain us.

Not as well known, perhaps, are the workshop plays produced for each club meeting, which are completely student directed. These productions afford every club member an opportunity to work in whatever phase or dramatics which most appeals to him.

The play is the sum total of all the cooperative efforts of the actors, directors, props crew, lighting crew, stage crew, and makeup assistants. Each workshop play may not always employ such a comprehensive group, but a major production cannot function without them.

To enable any member to participate well in that phase of dramatics which most appeals to him is one of the major aims of this club. Club members strive constantly to raise the standards of their workshop plays. As their productions improve, so also the club in general; and as the club improves so also do we as a college for we are but the whole of a multitude of parts.

1951 CARDINAL STAFF

We were honored to be chosen the Juniors to staff our yearbook. The honor was not opporent during our battles over theme, dedication, divider pages, cover, and meeting deadlines; but we gradually wormed up to our work. Our Editor made certain that our responsibilities did not have a chill reception.

From the foundations of our construction project to the laying of the bricks and the raising of the rafters, we have strived to bind together all those things which have contributed to your four years of P.S.T.C.

With the assistance of our advisors, Dr. Everest and Mr. Barton, and numerable other interested persons our construction is completed. It is not without pride that we leaf through this book. Building your yearbook has been one of our richest experiences.

NORTHERN LIGHT

Want reliable information on sports events, student and faculty opinions, campus doings and state university news? All this is available when you read an issue of our Northern Light, the eyes and ears of our campus. Faculty Advisor Dr. Harlan and Editor Doris Prindle provide stimulus and subjects for their earnest reporters. Typewriter under one arm, ruler in the other, one sees Dorrie running after her erring reporters, prodding them to meet "Blue" Monday deadline.

Every alert and up-to-date delegates were sent to conferences in Geneseo to discuss the intricacies involved in newspaper work and the helpful hints acquired there inspired the journalists on to new heights. Scurrying, hurrying, rush, rush—then a sigh of relief, the finished edition appears, but no time for rest, another is due and the mad cycle goes on.

It's fun from beginning to end for those who write it and those who read it. Alumnae, students, and faculty all agree that the Northern Light has what it takes.

THE LITERARY CLUB

Last year, the members of the Tower Staff met to discuss the forthcoming issue of the school literary mogozine. The difficulties encountered were many. The major problem of the Staff was to glean enough printable material, from the student body, to publish a product of quality. The Literary Club was consequently formed in an attempt to accelerate the creative writing of the student body.

Another goal of the Literary Club is to publish a mogozine entirely new to the campus. Change in name, size, printed form, cover design, and color are improvements for which the club is striving.

This is the students' mogozine, and already the Literary Club is aware of awakened interest in the student body. We are looking forward in the future to more than one publication a year.

HANDBOOK COMMITTEE

The Student Handbook is published to serve as a guide to the entire student body, and especially the Freshman Class. It furnishes general information concerning the activities of the college.

The committee is appointed by the President of the House of Delegates and has worked earnestly to improve the handbook from year to year.

ELEMENTARY CLUB

A definite asset to prospective teachers is membership in the Elementary Club. This organization, by sending representatives to conferences and sponsoring speakers, keeps its members abreast of the latest opinions and advances in the field. Such opportunities are fruitful in pointing up the scope and depth of the profession.

Besides being informative, the club has its lighter moments. Some of the choice programs this year have been the Drones from Champlain College, the Girls' Sextet from Maoers, and a coffee hour. It was through the efforts of the Elementary Club that the college saw the psychological film, "The Quiet One".

The club through the foresight and intelligent planning of its members has artfully combined business with pleasure.

Students enrolled in the Home Economics curriculum find both professional and social value in the Home Economics Club.

Its affiliation with the American Home Economics Association broadens its sphere of influence to include national conventions, a state symposium, and a workshop at Providence, Rhode Island.

To build cooperation among its members, the club has sponsored a silver tea to benefit the International Fellowship Fund, a panel discussion on off-campus teaching, such speakers as Dr. Vincent Dean of New York State College of Home Economics and Miss Park from our college. Miss Park gave a resume of her summer in Japan and displayed fascinating souvenirs from that country. The festivities of Christmas Week are enhanced by the Christmas Tea, a tradition of the Home Economics Club.

To give information on the activities of the Club, an annual publication entitled the "Platacon" is made available to its members.

Owing to the size of the Club, the officers constitute the Executive Committee which in reality carries on its active business.

NURSE TEACHER CLUB

Though smaller than the other two professional groups; the Nurse Teacher Club is an important part of campus life for every student in the field.

Since our nurses are on campus only during their Freshman and Senior year, there is a need for some medium through which upper and under classmen may become acquainted. The Nurse Teacher Club acts as such a medium.

This group keeps their sister nurses in Albany informed through correspondence, the Northern Light, and the Newsletter, which is a publication of the Nurse Teacher Club.

Although professional interest is of chief concern, this club is not without its recreation.

ALPHA DELTA

In retrospect, the A.D.'s will remember a year filled with happy moments, excitement, and satisfaction. The freshman party, given jointly by the A.D.'s, the Aga's, and the Clio's, brought forth some lively talent.

The fast-paced era of the twenties was relived with the presentation of the Alpha Delta Assembly program. Dressed in the original flopper costumes, the girls duplicated the fantastic pattern through which their parents lived.

A television show was the theme of this year's freshman rush party. This was followed by the Interfrat Dance in conjunction with the other two sororities.

The formal pledge banquet found members and pledges in high spirits and colorful attire. Sighs of relief were audible after the hectic routine ended. Thirty-one pledges were admitted at this time.

Of special interest was the impressive A.D. Convocation held on our campus. At this time representatives from every A.D. Chapter in the state were guests of the P.S.T.C. Chapter.

The Senior Banquet provided the underclassmen with an opportunity to bid farewell to their graduating sisters.

ALPHA KAPPA PHI

"We're all pals together . . ."

Adorned in blue A.K.Φ. sweaters, the Agos started the year with a bang! First came their All-College Coffee Hour. This was followed by the traditional Frosh get-acquainted party where the Agos made a successful attempt to revive the now popular Chorleston. Rushing was to follow, and the Agos were on the look-out for new material.

Carefully selected pledges were invited to take a "round the world cruise" on the "S.S.A.K.Φ." At each port there was entertainment indicative of that country. Refreshments were served on board ship.

The Inter-frat Donce was made an event by the cooperation of the A.D.'s and Clios as well as the Agonians.

The Agos entertained the Men's Club informally in the cafeteria with card playing, food, and a take-off from the Ago Cruise.

Pledge Banquet came in February and "hell week" followed. Smiles, costumes, anchors, and luggage made Ago pledgees amusing spectacles throughout the corridors and classrooms.

The induction of twenty-three enthusiastic pledges will help A.K.Φ. carry on its tradition.

With mixed emotions of joy and sadness, the Ago year was culminated with the annual Senior Farewell Banquet.

PHI KAPPA PI

The Clio "Daisies" proved themselves many times this busy year. The first big event, the Interfrat Party, given in conjunction with the Agos and the A.D.'s, convinced the freshmen that a P.S.T.C. sorority was the thing. The next affair on the calendar was "Clio Calls," a get-acquainted party in the lounge attended by both students and faculty. When the Men's Club was entertained, the men discovered that the "Daisies" could not only perform, but could square dance as well.

A Paris Night Club was the scene of this year's rush party. Held in the Cafe la Francois, the party was complete with Hildegard, Paree hats, and other French touches.

Once again the Clios lent a helping hand to another successful Interfrat Dance. Banquet and formal rushing brought twenty new Clios. During Hell-Week, pledges were the good sports they always are, and afforded many a laugh with their pigtailed and freckles.

The eventful year was brought to a close with the traditional Clio Breakfast, when their Senior sisters left them "sad and lonely," but with many fond and happy memories.

MEN'S CLUB

This year the men have an organization which does things. The season started with a party at Dr. Diebolt's camp which will long be remembered as a night of fun and frolic. The board of directors meeting with Dr. Everest, the advisor, planned a series of unusual programs.

All three sororities were entertained by the Men's Club last year, and this season they were return guests of the sororities.

Culturally, the club learned something of the art of selecting and wearing men's clothing from the Home Economics department.

Dr. Redcay and Perry Ladd were guest speakers. Scholastic assistance has been extended to those men who needed it. This club offers two annual awards, one for the man with the highest scholastic average; the second, for the best leader and all round fellow.

FOLK DANCE CLUB

Folk dancing done by people of various countries as an expression of their culture, is executed for pleasure and ceremony. Members of the club have learned basic folk dance steps—schottische, waltz, two step and palka. An attempt is made to relate the origin and development of the dance to its native country. Style, customs, and costumes are emphasized in an effort to make the dance an authentic and enjoyable one.

Organized this year, the group is under the direction of Miss Mack. Interest was stimulated by demonstration at the National Camp night, which led to the formation of the club.

Members of the group performed for church events, the March of Dimes Coronation and the Elementary Club.

DANCE CLUB

Modern dance composition and technique is offered to anyone gifted and interested in the dance. Under the able direction of Dr. Backus, the members learn the intricate techniques necessary for the perfection of their dancers. Folds, leaps and spiral turns are in evidence at their weekly meetings.

Recently, the club expanded to include original interpretations as well as special evening sessions for those members more advanced in technique.

The club had a chance to show its progress at an evening program presented to the school and public during the spring. This artistic group not only provides entertainment for the students and faculty, but also endows its members with a feeling of individual fulfillment.

ASTRONOMY CLUB

The Astronomers' Club has been organized to encourage those students who are interested in a study of the stars and planets. The club owns or has access to astronomical instruments by which detailed observations are made.

This year's program included a trip to Rand Hill, various speakers, club discussions, and a "big night" on Whiteface Mountain.

This night spent on Whiteface begins early in the evening and continues until the sky has reached its fullest illumination.

Dr. Rusterholtz, the advisor, furnishes a wealth of information for members. The program, backed by "Rusty's" inspiration, helps develop an appreciation and knowledge of heavenly bodies.

TUMBLING CLUB

No longer affiliated with the Dance Club, the Tumblers came into their own in 1947. Exhibiting remarkably muscular control and ability, the accomplishments of the members are breath-taking. Headstands, forward and backward rolls, flips, cartwheels and kips are all performed by the girls with amazing dexterity.

An addition to the club this year was that of a few boys who work independently from the girls, but join them for their annual program. The highlight of this event is the graceful and unusual acrobatic dance.

ART CLUB

The principal aim of the Art Club is to give students an opportunity to express themselves and develop in creativeness as well as appreciation of art. By so doing, an appreciation of true art is fostered. This club is especially appreciated by students who have little art in their curriculum.

Under the guidance of Miss Bollarian, the members work on individual projects with such materials as leather, water colors, tempera, clay and felt.

To further the art appreciation in the college, the club sponsored a tea with an exhibit of their projects. Whenever the opportunity arises, the club sponsors Student Exhibits downtown.

OUTING CLUB

"The Outing Club sponsors . . ."

Many a note has adorned the north bulletin board this past year which gives a source of fun and adventure for all P.S.T.C. students.

The activities of these outdoor-minded students, under the direction of Dr. Bockus, varied with the season and the weatherman.

Mountain climbing, bicycling, and cook-outs were the main events this fall, while the winter months furnished ideal conditions for skating and skiing. The week-end that was spent at Stowe was a new and successful addition to the program.

Students join with the permanent members according to their interest in the present activity. The members you see pictured are the most active.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Ever aware of the need for a thorough understanding of world situations, the International Relations Club finds its foundation. This group makes good use of informal Wednesday meetings by obtaining pertinent information that will further its goal.

Through their discussions, debates, speakers, and occasional movies, the members gain an insight into current happenings.

The International Relations bulletin board, sponsored by this club, has articles of current importance intended to stimulate the interest of the students in world affairs.

Expressing and analyzing opinions, not making decisions, is the objective of this group.

RADIO WORKSHOP

The Radio Workshop has completed its second successful year on the campus of P.S.T.C.

In order that members acquire a firm foundation in radio production, they have experience in acting, script writing, and control of sound effects.

The Monday meetings are industriously used for the preparation of the Saturday afternoon program over a local station. "Junior Records on Parade" is evidence of the club's desire to present entertainment for children.

The members agree that the background this club provides is beneficial as well as enjoyable.

TIWA-YA-EE at TWIN VALLEYS

Twin Valley's P.S.T.C.'s 700 acre outdoor education and recreation center, located on the northern edge of the Adirondocks beckons you "welcome."

TIWA Ya-EE lights its council fire at Twin Valleys at least once each month of the College year. One of the main purposes of the Club is to assist in the development of this area.

This year Club members have worked at Twin Valleys with members of the camping classes. These two groups have cleared and marked trails, erected tipi poles, completed a log shelter and posted part of the property.

The lodge and dam shown above is the construction soon to be started at Twin Valleys. Through self assessment students and alumni alone have made these two additions possible.

The lodge along with two log lean-to's should offer ample accommodations for any type of activity at Twin Valleys.

From each class and varsity sport come representatives to this Board. They are responsible for setting up the intramural sports budget, and for establishing standards on which awards are given. The outstanding achievement of the Board this year was to add Soccer to our Varsity sports.

GYM CLASSES

This annual game boasts a thirteen-year-old history and tradition, when the teams were known as Yale and Princeton, their colors were orange and black, and black and white, and the Yale Bulldog and the Princeton Tiger were mascots.

In 1947, with enrollment growing, the teams were renamed Cardinal and White and a new tradition arose of faculty members as mascots.

Managers

The Varsity basketball squad under Coach Roy James has completed the season with one of the best records in P.S.T.C. history. They won twelve of their seventeen games, thus breaking the previous record of eleven wins to six losses.

One of the most thrilling games was played against Albany State Teachers College on their court. The Cardinals displayed their exceptional teamwork though losing the game by one point after overtime had been called. Their three other defeats were also close and handed to the Cards by Oswego, Oneonta, and Paul Smith.

The team has shown, in all of its twelve games, a strong determination to win plus real ability which has afforded their opponents some stiff competition.

Coach James has welded together two fine teams which have the essential height and experience. He has stimulated harmony and good teamwork among the players, making them one of the better basketball teams within the Teachers College ranks. The players respect his coaching ability, one of the prime reasons for the success of the CARDINALS.

Under the able leadership of Coach Shemet the Junior Varsity basketball team has compiled an impressive record of fourteen wins and four defeats.

The J.V. team is composed of men who are being groomed for varsity positions, which requires more experience. If their success this year is an indication of what to expect, P.S.T.C. may very well see quite a few successful seasons in the future.

The team shows fine spirit and cooperation and play on excellent brand of basketball. Mr. Shemet has put together a fine team, with the will and spirit to win, in the best athletic tradition of the school.

CHEERLEADERS

Enthusiasm and spirit keynote attendance at the Varsity games on our campus and are inspired by the vivacious misses in the red and white.

Behind spirited routines of those cheerleaders lie hours of practice and thought. Many J.V. Cheerleaders are elected to the Varsity Squad. With the completion of three years of cheering, those girls will receive a sweater—symbolic of the achievement in athletics. Let's not overlook their ability as public relations representatives either!

BASEBALL

Last season this squad led the student body through alternating currents of fears and cheers. When the curtain descended on the baseball campaign, the team had come through with a most successful season, winning five and dropping only two contests. They defeated Albany State Teachers College twice, Paul Smith's, Castleton, and Patsdam State Teachers Colleges. Their only defeats were handed them by Paul Smith's and Patsdam, in closely contested games.

The team proved that it could handle the increase in games by topping their previous record. Part of the credit goes to "Dac" Wiley for his enthusiasm, even when the chips were down. We're expecting great things from this team.

OUR NEW DORM

It took a long time, and we began to wonder, but we certainly do like it, especially the Student Union.

There are 244 women students happily living here. Rooms are either double or single with individual accommodations for each occupant. There are units, each with its own officers, committees, student government and senior counselor who works with the residence director, Miss Davis.
